Newspaper Advertisement Points Way to Health

I can confidently say that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a very good medicine, not alone for kidney trouble, but also for weak and sore back, as well as for rheumatism.

About a year ago I became ill and unable to work, my trouble being a lame back. I read of your Swamp-Root in the newspaper and in an Almanac. Believing it would do me good, I went to my druggist, Mr. Skinner, and purchased a bottle. Finding relief in one fifty-cent bottle, I purchased several more, and in a short time was able to continue with my work, and am to-day feeling well and strong. Always recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to my friends, as I believe it is as good a medicine as can be found.

company has a contract with the government to collect mail from substation before it was broken up by mounted police. The trouble started when Joe Hinckley, a car inspector, tried to repair a broken trolley pole in a car at Meridian and Washington Streets. The mob pulled Hinckley from the car and started to drag him up the street, shouting for the police to rescue him. The crowd started to take the inspector from the police, who fired in the air to drive back the crowd. Women took a prominent part in the disorder.

Thousands of men and women walked the streets to-night wearing placards, which read: "We walk; do you?" Although many were very desirous to march, they were forced into service, the great majority of Indiana laboring people, who did not join the mob that surrounded the Louisiana Street car barns, where the strikers were quartered, walked home to-night.

That the Federal government may take a hand in the strike was indicated in a statement by Postoffice Inspector William T. Fletcher. The car

FOR GREATER VETO POWER

Overman Resolution Would Give President Discretionary Authority.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Washington, November 1.—A constitutional amendment giving the President discretionary veto powers is provided for in a resolution introduced in the Senate on Friday by Senator Overman of North Carolina. The Overman resolution would permit the chief executive to veto any clause of a measure passed by Congress and approve the remainder. It also provides for reduction from two-thirds to a majority vote, should Congress desire to override a presidential veto.

VIRGINIA TROOPS HIGHLY REGARDED

They Will Be Among First Called in Case of Trouble.

THEIR DISCIPLINE HIGH

Infantry Arm of Service Has Asked for Army of 115,000 Men.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Washington, November 1.—It has been officially learned that the Virginia troops will be among the first to be ordered to Mexico from the East if any State soldiers are called for, although it is understood that, so far as possible, no distinction in the selection of the different commands will be made. It is recognized, however, that where the troops of one State are qualitatively better than those in another, the former would be chosen. The United States does not want any green troops, and has no time for training such men as will be called for, should the exigency of war demand the ordering out of the militia. As the Virginians are recognized as among the best drilled and disciplined in the United States, they would, under the circumstances mentioned, be among the first to be called.

An army of 115,000 men is what the infantry arm of the service has asked of the Secretary of War. The necessity for this increase is set forth in detail by the Infantry Journal, which says that this would meet the formation within the United States of a mobile army of three infantry divisions of twenty-seven regiments, one cavalry division of twelve regiments, and seven regiments of field artillery. This increase also contemplates raising the number of men in the infantry companies from sixty-five to 100. The former is at present the minimum on a peace footing.

It is asserted that in time of emergency, when companies are raised to a total strength of 150 men, the addition of so many untrained men destroys the efficiency of the troops, and prevents their prompt employment just at a time when they are most needed, besides the smaller number prevents the proper training of men and officers.

On the basis of the proposed increase, the mobile army, exclusive of the Coast Artillery and troops serving beyond the seas, would consist of 36,000 infantry, 12,000 cavalry, 3,400 field artillery, 2,200 auxiliary troops, a total of 53,400 men, or an enlisted man to every 1,000 population. It shows that the strength of mobile armies in other countries compared to the population is as follows: Great Britain, 1 to every 200; France, 1 to every 70; Spain, 1 to every 100; Italy, 1 to every 100; Japan, 1 to every 120. Would a mobile army in the United States of 53,400 men in time of peace be considered in any sense a large standing army, asks the journal? P. H. McG.

SINGER'S FIGURE TO THRILL GOTHAM

Mlle. Chenal, a New Hammerstein Prima Donna, Will Make Debut in "Aphrodite."

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] Paris, November 1.—Mlle. Chenal, who with Mme. Barrionte, the coloratura singer; Mme. and Mme. Bellincourt and M. Renaud will be in the front ranks of Mr. Hammerstein's star singers, sails on November 22 and will appear for the first time in the New World at the new opera house in December as Chrysis, the chief character in "Aphrodite."

When she is seen in New York she will doubtless cause a thrill. For Mlle. Chenal is a woman of rare beauty—a beauty which her most attractive rivals have gushed over.

The chief charm of Mlle. Chenal for her figure, which is revealed in one false scene in "Aphrodite." It makes the famous Annette Kellerman seem almost ugly, notwithstanding its good points. Miss Mary Garden's back will still have its admirers, but it will not in the future be the only back.

Gaston d'Erlander, composer of "Aphrodite," will sail on the same steamer as the prima star to attend rehearsals of his opera.

Like many other artists Mlle. Chenal had to fight her way to fame. In her early days, they say, she was by turns, a model and dressmaker's mannequin. She is now one of the most popular singers in Paris.

STAFF TO COLLECT INCOME TAX MONEY

Washington, November 1.—With most of the regulations for the collection of the income tax out of the way, internal revenue officers to-day turned their attention to the selection of the staff to collect the money. In the next few months 334 deputy collectors, forty agents and forty inspectors are to be appointed.

Several thousand applications for these positions have been received at the Treasury Department. Appointments probably will be apportioned among the States, and in most cases special applicants will need the influence of some collectors or of internal revenue in their districts and be acceptable to Senator and Congressman.

Although the operation of the income tax law so far as concerned collections at the source of income began to-day, the actual cash will not reach the Treasury for many months.

Corporations and others who pay interest on bonds or mortgages, or who may sell stocks or other forms of income will withhold the normal tax of 1 percent, except as provided by the law.

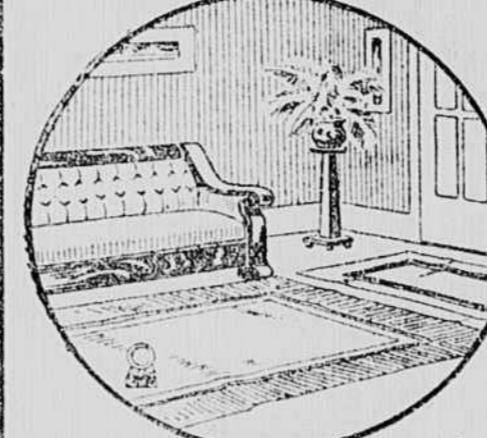

The return of the taxes withheld will be made early in the year, but collections will not begin until June.

Secretary McAdoo said the regulations for the collection of the tax put out by the department might require changes from time to time.

EVERY DAY BRINGS GLAD TIDINGS

It Seems As Though Every Offerer in Richmond Will Soon Be Cured, or Greatly Benefited, and Quaker Extract Did It.

A most remarkable case has come to light. A local young lady, Miss Nellie Liggin, who is a dressmaker by occupation, and resides at No. 1116 Beverly Street, this city. She stated at the drug store that she had been almost a constant sufferer for three years with stomach trouble, although living most of the time on the lightest diet. She would have constant pain in pit of the stomach. The food seemed to sour, ferment, which caused belching, sour mouthfuls of bitter, nasty mucus. She had catarrh of the head, dripping of mucus; kept her clearing her throat, as she said, "I have taken many different kinds of medicine, but nothing ever seemed to reach my case until I procured one bottle of the Quaker Herb Extract. I didn't have much faith when I bought it, but after reading and hearing about the wonderful benefits so many people were receiving from the use of the extract, I felt that I was no different than other people, and if it cured them it might at least benefit me. I commenced to take it according to directions on the bottle, and I want to say that I felt a great benefit from the very first day; have been improving ever since, and the pains have all disappeared, and at last I feel I have found a cure and am thankful for what the Quaker Herb Extract has done for me, and will recommend it to all who have stomach trouble or indigestion."
